Description

A charming 19th-century hat box made of walnut and burl walnut, featuring an elegant oval shape that flares outward toward the top.The wood displays a beautiful natural pattern of grain and figure in warm, light tones. Brass bands highlight the contours of the lid and base, combining the simplicity of the form with the brilliance of the metal.The removable lid is fitted with a movable brass handle mounted on a rectangular plate with engraved decoration. Two side fasteners secure it in place.The interior is lined with an orange-red lining and retains an old hat-maker's label bearing the inscription "Souliac aîné, in Riom (Puy-de-Dôme)--a charming testament to its past use.A beautiful antique accessory whose patina and proportions also make it a decorative object full of character, perfect for display in a bedroom,
