Neoclassical Neoclassical Style

5 200 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Length : 82

Height : 53

Depth : 23

Description

Neoclassical, Neoclassical StyleA beautiful bronze sculpture depicting a sphinx with a woman's head and a reclining lion's body, inspired by Neoclassical and Egyptian styles.This significant sculpture, created between the 1950s and 1970s, features a majestic silhouette, a delicately modeled feminine face, and a remarkable decorative presence.Its magnificent original patina, rich in nuances, gives it the appearance of an ancient bronze--so much so that it could easily be mistaken for one.Its aesthetic evokes the creations of the First Empire. Although this sculpture is not from the Empire period, it would fit perfectly among a collection of high-quality furniture and objets d'art from that era.With its beautiful proportions and architectural character, this bronze offers

Dealer

GALERIE DE CICCO MONACO
Empire
Tel : 0033 (0)6 08 75 41 17

La Villa, 19 Galerie Charles III
Monaco 98000

numerous decorative possibilities.It can be placed in both classic and contemporary interiors--directly on the floor, on a pedestal, a large console table, or a beautiful antique piece of furniture.It would also be perfectly at home outdoors, particularly at the entrance to a home, under a porch, on a terrace, or at the entrance to a property--provided the necessary precautions are taken to preserve its original patina.Calling all architects, interior designers, decorators, private collectors, and lovers of fine objects and decorative arts seeking a unique, elegant, and timeless piece capable of enhancing an interior or the entrance to a property with character.Provenance: formerly owned by a property in Cap d'Antibes.Period: 1950s-1970s.Style: Neoclassical, with Egyptian-inspired and First Empire influences.Material: bronze.Dimensions:Length: 82 cmDepth: 23 cmHeight: 53 cmCondition: Sold with its superb original patina. Some wear and signs of use due to the passage of time, without detracting from its remarkable decorative character.Shipping throughout France. Careful packaging provided by Galerie De Cicco.