Description

Free shipping is available for mainland France via La Poste or Mondial Relay*"TROMPEUR" PITCHER made of beige glazed earthenware with a speckled brown glaze.Baluster-shaped, its neck features openwork that prevents normal use; the spout is connected at the throat to a hollow ridge, and the handle--which is also hollow--connects to the base of the body, allowing the contents to be consumed. It is engraved with the inscription: "Made by me, François Laillet, in Saint Pierre de Durtal on September 15, 1765." This date is repeated on the exterior bottom.Height: 14.6 cm.DURTAL (Anjou), 18th century.In very fine condition; however, there is a chip at the tip of the spout.An extremely rare and perhaps unique piece, museum quality.I have not come across
