Description

Elegant French two-door display cabinet from the late 1800s in Provençal style, made of walnut. The arched cornice, or "gendarme's hat" style, is embellished with a large central carved shell, flanked by engraved lozenge motifs and two side rosettes. On either side rise two elegant urn-shaped turned pinnacles, which accentuate the piece's vertical elegance. The doors feature a glazed upper section with a molded profile and period glass, and a lower panel richly carved with a floral rose motif on a lattice background. The lower band is adorned with and pierced by another shell motif with volutes and rests on scroll-shaped feet, typical of French and Italian cabinetmaking of the period.Provenance: FrancePeriod: late 1800s to early 1900sStyle: ProvençalDimensions: 73x32x173h cmSKU:
