Description

Unique and spectacular piece from the Napoleon III era (second half of the 19th century), made entirely by hand on a beautiful heavy and thick canvas of ecru linen. This great ceremonial textile (old bourgeois table rug, bedspread or wall hanging) is distinguished by the rare richness of its two-tone garance red and nuanced indigo blue decor, combining a powerful neo-Renaissance-inspired and traditional iconography with an execution of remarkable mastery. Details and know-how:Iconography: Large fantastic birds (griffins / phoenixes) facing floral rinceaux, stylized carnations and a large monogram intertertaced in the center of the border.Embroidery techniques: Fully handmade work combining a flat past in high relief of high density, bumblebees points, knot points as well as delicate needle days (openwork grids in bird wings, foliage and flower heart). (See photos on the back).Finishes: Contour embellished with a braided braid braid (macrame style) extended by long flexible and intact fringes.Technical characteristics:Period: Napoleon III / Second Empire (circa 1860-1880)Dimensions: 170 × 220 cm (fringes included)Weight: 1.3 kg (nice hold, tight weave)State of conservation: Very good state of use (9/10). Healthy, solid and clean canvas, perfectly preserved relief embroidery, complete fringes (tiny trace of old degorgement on a detail, testifying to the authenticity of period dyes). New used condition, it has been washed only once. For maintenance, dry cleaning must be preferred to prevent fresh colors from overflowing on the canvas.A rare collector's piece, ideal as a centerpiece on a large table, as a character bed throw or mounted on a wall hanging in a classic or contemporary interior.
