Description

A German table lamp from the 1970s featuring a geometric base covered in natural cork.The hexagonal base transitions smoothly into a cylindrical shape at the lampshade, highlighting the cork's natural texture and color variations. The wide, conical shade is covered in raffia, a natural fiber derived from the leaves of the raffia palm.The combination of cork, plant fibers, and geometric shapes is in keeping with the West German interior design of the 1970s, which made extensive use of natural materials.Dimensions: 52H x 35L x 35P
