Description

Large floor-standing mirror from the first half of the 20th century, probably circa 1920-1940.The mirror features a rectangular oak frame adorned with finely carved geometric decoration, consisting of a continuous wavy pattern and a narrow border with diamond-shaped motifs. The mirror panel is mounted between two uprights and can be tilted forward and backward. The base consists of two wide, contoured legs fitted with small casters.The mirror has retained its original wooden back panel. Slight signs of wear consistent with its age.Dimensions: 192H x 102L x 54P
