Description

An original and charming decorative metal robot, part of the Christmas display "Un Noël d'une autre planète," created in 2015 for the famous window displays at Galeries Lafayette in Paris.The display, dedicated to an imaginary space universe populated by robots and fantastical characters, was one of the Christmas displays at the Parisian department store.The robot features a distinctive retro-futuristic design, with a large rectangular head, two circular black eyes, and long metal antennae arranged in a V-shape.The body, with its geometric and angular shapes, is embellished with a golden star affixed to the chest, while the articulated arms end in unique claw-like hands. The structure is made of metal, with an elegant contrast between silver finishes and gold details.The deliberately playful
