Description

This mirror features an architectural frame with cut corners, composed of two rows of marginal plates in slightly bluish glass arranged in inclined facets around the central mirror. Each edge is underscored with a garland of stamped brass with beaded motifs, forming a gilt network that sets the whole like a jewel.This type of multi-faceted mirror with metal garlands, inspired by Venetian mirrors, is characteristic of Spanish workshops of the 1970s, which produced these refined models in the neoclassical taste, much sought-after today for their decorative sparkle.Condition report: Good general condition. Original bluish glass possibly presenting light foxing or micro-scratches inherent to age, complete brass garlands with a fine gilt patina. A luminous mirror, perfect in an entrance, a bedroom or a
