Description

This elegant mahogany console table stands out for its solid construction and dynamic shape. Its slightly curved front has no visible openings or handles, emphasizing the purely aesthetic appeal and visual harmony of this unusual piece of cabinetry. The piece is adorned with remarkable marquetry work, highlighting a central oval medallion in burl wood surrounded by lighter-colored geometric marquetry borders. The convex side panels feature the same refined decoration, while the upper section simulates a wide drawer front using trompe-l'oeil. The piece rests on a solid, molded plinth, giving it a sculptural appearance typical of classic Louis XVI-inspired furniture.Period: Early 20th centuryIn very fine condition following restoration in our cabinetmaking
