Description

We present this interesting German desk set, crafted from various components and bullets used as stands for pens or pencils.World War I (1914-1918).This is a one-of-a-kind piece, handcrafted by a soldier from materials salvaged at the front: two shell heads--specifically, French-style artillery fuses with graduated discs, made of brass and aluminum.The square central element on the front is adorned with a medallion taken from a German belt buckle. The central lid is decorated with pansies.In good condition.
