Description

A beautiful Louis Vuitton trunk from the 1900s. Its monogrammed canvas is a jacquard-woven fabric, which Louis Vuitton used only from 1896 to 1904, featuring for the first time the iconic pattern still used today, created to stand out and prevent counterfeiting.It features black steel trim and side handles, as well as a lock and solid brass clasps stamped "Louis Vuitton," and studs, all stamped "LV." It bears several travel tags, including those from hotels still well-known today, as well as white and red stable bands on the sides to help identify and group the trunks.The interior is also original, with its Louis Vuitton label and serial number. Original straps with some sections missing and clasps stamped "Louis Vuitton."A small, discreet vintage patch on one side made from period canvas.The trunk
