Description

Marcello Tommasi (Pietrasanta, 1928 - Florence, 2008)The Archer - An imposing bronze sculpture with a dark patinaDescription of the WorkWe present a magnificent and powerful bronze work by Marcello Tommasi, a renowned sculptor and painter associated with the great Tuscan and international figurative tradition.The subject depicts an archer captured at the moment of peak physical and emotional tension: his body is leaning forward, one leg strongly splayed and anchored to the rocky base, while his taut, sculpted muscles convey the kinetic energy and concentrated effort of the act of releasing the arrow. The vigorous modeling of the material and the skillful use of casting give the surface a vibrant textural quality, where light sculpts the anatomical volumes and the deep chiaroscuro of
