Description

A hammered copper vase from the renowned Japanese copperware workshop Gyokusendo. Gyokusendo was founded in 1816 in Tsubame, Niigata Prefecture, and is the only workshop to continue the "tsuiki-doki" technique, a process that involves hammering a single sheet of copper to create objects. Gyokusendo's ability to apply a variety of colors to copper is a technique unique in the world. In fact, it was designated as an "Intangible Cultural Property" in Japan in 1980. Gyokusendo seal on the bottom. Japan, circa 1970, 17 x 12.5 cm, opening 7 cm. With its original box signed by the artist.
