Description

A remarkable antique Senneh rug, originating from Persia (modern-day Iran), dating from the 19th century, made of extremely fine kork wool of outstanding quality.Its midnight blue field is adorned with a delicate scattering of floral motifs and palmettes. It is surrounded by a wide ochre border, featuring a similar plant motif and highlighting an elegant, crenellated central medallion in beige tones, embellished with blooming floral motifs. The design is accentuated by two narrow borders that harmoniously frame the pattern.The fineness of the weaving, with a particularly high density of 12,000 knots per dm², attests to the precision of the craftsmanship and the quality of this piece's execution.Dimensions:Length: 391 cmWidth: 219 cmDensity: 12,000 knots per dm²
