A Printed Cotton Curtain - Neo-oriental Decor - Napoleon III Era

230 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Linen

Description

A beautiful, large curtain crafted from a remarkable vintage printed cotton fabric featuring a rich, decorative pattern typical of the eclectic taste of the Napoleon III era.The particularly refined design consists of a repeating pattern arranged in diamond shapes, featuring large stylized elements inspired by plant motifs and Oriental motifs. These motifs evoke palmettes, stylized flowers, and geometric ornaments reminiscent of Ottoman- or Persian-inspired textiles, which were very much in vogue in 19th-century interiors.The design unfolds against an elegant deep green background, highlighting a warm color palette blending golden beige, coral red, powder pink, and shades of ochre. The symmetrical compositions and graphic lines give this fabric a very strong decorative presence,
