Description

Watercolor with gouache, graphite on paper, titled, dated, and signed in the lower right corner "Morbihan - Brittany"A Breton painter born in Rennes in 1887 and who died in Quiberon in 1952, Ernest Guérin was deeply attached to his native region. Inspired by the landscapes, traditional architecture, and daily life of Brittany, he developed a body of work imbued with poetry and nostalgia. His interest in medieval illumination is reflected in his attention to detail and in his way of placing small figures within landscapes that are sometimes vast.This watercolor perfectly illustrates his sensitive perspective on a rural, authentic, and timeless Brittany.
