Description

This piece, with its slender shape and flared neck and side handle, is the famous Model No. 27. It stands out for its extremely rare bright red enamel--as the artist's works are overwhelmingly produced in shades of blue, green, or black. This vibrant red background beautifully highlights the figurative design of a stylized female figure, created using incision (scarification) and enhanced with polychrome enamels (black, yellow, white, and gold). With its sculptural silhouette and flamboyant color, this work of art adds a unique, bold, and highly decorative vintage touch to a contemporary interior. ceramics in the late 1940s, crossed paths withRoger Capron MADOURA, and Georges Tardieu. His works were sold in luxury boutiques, initially on the Côte d'Azur, and later throughout France and internationally. The pieces are generally large, dynamic, and highly structured. Of particular note is the extensive work with glaze, ranging from matte to glossy, which demonstrates great mastery in the art of ceramics.
