Description

European painter (19th-20th century) - Seascape with a sailing ship in a storm.45 x 67 cm (unframed) - 51 x 73 cm (framed).Oil on panel, in a gilded wooden frame.Signed indistinctly in the lower right corner.The painting depicts a two-masted sailing ship navigating a stormy sea. The waves, rendered with vigorous brushstrokes, occupy a large part of the composition, while the overcast sky frames the scene in the background. The technique reveals a good command of rendering the motion of the sea, with the breaking waves in the foreground rendered with fluidity and effective color contrasts between the deep greens of the sea and the white foam. The subject falls within the tradition of 19th-century European marine painting, widespread in French, British, and Nordic circles.Condition report: The
