Description

This wall-mounted panel, made of walnut with a thick patina, features two small, generously molded doors without locks. They are separated by a stanchion decorated with a beautiful seashell and a "rosary." The entire piece, carved with a "knife," evokes a crucifix. On either side, the posts are wide and topped by a molded cornice.These small "cupboards" served as storage for the priest's personal belongings.

In very good original condition, ready to be installed.
