Description

A very interesting lot, likely assembled from several different sets; the designs differ very slightly. It includes a bottle, a conical vase, a comb mount, a small jar, and a stopper that fits the bottle perfectly. The bottle, with a crystal body, is beautifully engraved with a garland of leaves and flowers and a knotted ribbon; the bulbous cylindrical stopper is made of vermeil sterling and adorned with a floral design in guilloché enamel. High quality! The conical vase is also made of crystal, cut with a similar floral design; the cylindrical base is of the same quality, and engraved on its underside is the silver hallmark of James E. Blacke & Co., Attleboro, Massachusetts. All pieces feature the same goldsmithing and enamel work, though the motifs differ slightly in color. The small pot is also made of faceted cut crystal. All pieces are engraved with the word "Sterling," guaranteeing the material of the objects. Vermeil on the inside of the lids; the enamel is of very fine quality--elegance guaranteed! Condition: numerous small chips in the enamel, and the trumpet-shaped vase has some play between the base and the vase itself. Everything is clearly shown in my detailed photos; please look at them carefully--I'm not hiding anything!
