Large Ceramic Vase, Farina, Faenza

400 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Parfait état

Description

Large ceramic vase made in the late 19th century by the Farina ceramics workshop in Faenza, featuring grotesque decorations and two medallions depicting a landscape and a male bust in the classical style.Achille Farina developed a decorative technique known as "ad impasto," which allowed him to create paintings on ceramic that had the appearance and quality of oil paintings on canvas. The workshop thus specialized in the production of objects with particularly rich decoration, often inspired by classical portraiture.The vase, in perfect condition, is 35 cm tall and has a maximum diameter of 22 cm.
