Description

A significant bronze sculpture by Llucia or Luciano Oslé from the early 20th century depicting a shepherdess and her flock. A very beautiful lost-wax sculpture that showcases the artist's creative and spirited nature through the realism of the modeling. Signed by the artist, who signed as Llucia Oslé, on the base, and marked by the foundry F. Cescati, Barcelona. He was a great Catalan Spanish sculptor, a friend of Manolo Hugues, and a student of Josep Montserrat. He received numerous awards, including an honorable mention at the Barcelona Fine Arts Exhibition in 1896, as well as the Grand Prize in Madrid and Barcelona. He created numerous monuments from 1909 to 1925 in several major cities across Spain. An exceptional and rare bronze sculpture with great decorative appeal. We
