Description

Large round Rouen faience charger, 18th century, radiating decoration, 48.5 cmA large round Rouen faience charger, 18th century, probably first half, with radiating decoration in blue camaïeu. Nearly fifty centimetres in diameter, with the decoration that made Rouen famous: a rosette in the centre, a wide crown of lambrequins punctuated with masks, bouquets radiating on the rim, in a deep blue and a dense drawing. The charger was broken and glued back together, long ago and neatly: this is what brings a piece of this size within reach of a collector; made for the wall, it shows to its full advantage there.Rouen, 18th century. Large round faience charger, decorated in blue camaïeu on a slightly bluish white glaze.In the centre, an eight-lobed rosette filled with scrolls. Around it, a wide crown of lambrequins alternating masks, fleurons and scrolls. On the rim, lambrequins and bouquets of flowers radiating from a serrated border.The radiating decoration, in which the lambrequins converge from the edge towards the centre, was born in Rouen; it enjoyed its greatest vogue in the first decades of the 18th century, and other factories later imitated it. On the reverse, a mark painted in blue, probably the painter's.Broken into three pieces and glued: an old, neat restoration, whose lines remain visible without spoiling the reading of the decoration. A few slight chips at the rim; fine network of crazing in the glaze, usual on faience of this age. Metal hanger on the reverse.Dimensions:o Diameter: 48.5 cm (19.1 in)o Height: 7.5 cm (3 in)o Weight: 3.4 kg (7.5 lb)Safe and secure shipping:o France: EUR 48 (specialized carrier for fragile items)o Europe and the rest of the world: Please contact uso Professional packing; each shipment insured for the full value of the piece.o Authenticity guaranteed; a detailed invoice is provided with every acquisition.o Returns accepted within 14 days of receipt.o Our pieces may be viewed by appointment.o Does this item pique your interest or curiosity?
