Description

An authentic 1970s-era creation in the style of Maison Jansen's designs, this sculptural table lamp features a corolla of large, tapered agave leaves made of gilded metal (brass), accentuated by a dark patina along the edges and resting on a two-tone cubic base made of dark metal and wood. When lit, the bulb nestled at the heart of the composition reveals the finely crafted veins of the upper foliage and diffuses a warm, enveloping light upward and to the sides; when unlit, it stands out as a centerpiece with golden highlights and organic curves. Equipped with a dark power cord, this vintage Hollywood Regency-style lamp will add character and elegance to a sideboard, console table, or end table.
