Fireplace Screen, Based On A Design By Jacques Adnet, Mid-20th Century

450 EUR

Signature : d'après Jacques Adnet

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Glass

Length : 60 cm

Width : 120

Height : 60

Description

Fire screen, a modernist screen consisting of three panels designed by or based on a model by the famous French designer and interior architect Jacques Adnet.Created in the mid-20th century (around the 1930s to 1950s), this model stands out for its clean, minimalist lines: three tempered glass panels--a fixed central panel and two hinged side panels (which can be easily removed using standard hinges).Brass hinges and upper movable rings serve both as a distinctive decorative feature and, in the case of the rings, as functional handles.Very good condition Central panel width: 60 cm - side panels 30 cm - height 60 cm

Dealer

Vidal Antiquaires

antique dealer, trade welcome,english spoken- habla Espagnol

Tel : 03 23 81 10 97

Mobile : 06 07 98 54 79

Fax : vidalantiquaires@live.fr

16, rue du Général Foy

ham 80400