Description

Ghom carpet from Iran, made entirely of silk, hailing from one of the most renowned traditions of Persian carpet weaving. The city of Ghom is particularly known for its silk carpets, prized for the fineness of their weave, the precision of their craftsmanship, and the nobility of their material.The silk lends this carpet great delicacy as well as a unique luminosity. Depending on the angle of the light, its fibers reveal subtle shimmer that highlights the finesse of the craftsmanship and lends the piece an elegant presence. Ghom silk carpets are sought after for their textile quality, their refinement, and their significant place in the art of Iranian carpet-making.Measuring 160 × 105 cm, this rug offers a harmonious size, allowing it to be showcased in various living spaces.
