Description

Large polychrome armchair in the Louis XV style--18th century, circa 1740.This armchair features a frame with sinuous, curved lines. The backrest, seat, and armrests are delicately upholstered in a fabric with floral motifs and rest on four carved, curved legs. The backrest, which is slightly concave, is adorned in the center with a floral motif carved in a semicircle, widening toward the top and curving inward at the sides. The seat, rounded at the back and curved at the front, is decorated with floral motifs similar to those on the finial and the sides of the armchair. The legs, flared at the top, end in finials. The frame is doweled. The entire frame is finished in polychrome gold. The upholstery is magnificent and requires cleaning.Condition: Very good. Slight scuffs on the polychrome finish. The
