Description

We present this forged blade with recessed grooves.Blade length: 48.5 cm.Tang length: 15 cm.This is likely a kindjal blade, also known as a qama, a traditional weapon of the Caucasus and the Russian Empire.Our blade is typical of large combat kindjals, such as the Russian 1907 Bebut service model or 19th-century Caucasian productions.Based on the hot-stamped hallmark, it could be a traditional production from Dagestan, Georgia, or a Russian Empire armory.Upon further examination, it may be an authentic antique piece dating from the second half of the 19th century or the very early 20th century.Unfortunately, the handle--often made of horn, ivory, or nielloed silver--is missing.Ours is therefore presented on its own, in very good condition, with a long blade and fine hand-forged
