Description

This isn'ta description of a well-known object, but I can't resist...I'llpaint the scene: after Sunday lunch, the guests are invited into thesmall parlor--where people show off, where they flaunt their wealth, where theygush over the youngest child's achievements. The hostwill immediately take you to explore his latest photographs, freshfrom the photographer's lab. We'llpeek through the large magnifying glass of the graphoscope resting on a piano, and we'll have toadjust the focus to your prescription by sliding the stereoscopic positivealong its mount. A luxuryitem from the time of Hibenatus, crafted entirely of mahogany and precious woods, in perfect condition.
