Description

Vintage Art Deco dining table, made around the 1930s.The frame and base are veneered with warm-toned walnut burl, which highlights the wood's natural grain. The rectangular tabletop, framed by gilded wood molding, features a sheet of dark glass finely engraved along its entire perimeter with floral motifs and stylized scrolls.The piece rests on two wide, tapered side legs with rounded corners, finished at the bottom with a brass base. The sides of the legs feature an elegant geometric pattern of open-grain veneer.In good condition, with slight signs of wear and micro-scratches consistent with the piece's age.
