Description

An elegant pair of Louis XVI armchairs made in Naples at the end of the 18th century.The frame, crafted from lacquered and gilded wood, features refined floral carvings and flowing lines of great aesthetic balance. The oval backrests and contoured armrests lend a sense of lightness to the composition, while the fluted truncated-conical legs evoke the neoclassical purity typical of the period.The armchairs are ready for reupholstery, offering the opportunity to customize the upholstery to your taste while preserving the exquisite quality of the original frame.A magnificent example of late 18th-century Neapolitan craftsmanship, perfect for enhancing classic interiors or prestigious antique collections.Period: Late 18th century;Provenance: Naples;Dimensions: Total
