Description

Antique rustic fir wardrobe with two doors, 19th century.Period wardrobe characterized by a simple and sturdy structure, typical of 19th-century rustic furniture. The front consists of two doors with geometric paneling, featuring diamond-shaped decorations and contoured panels that lend movement and character to the surface. The piece is completed by a projecting upper band and a base with turned legs. Crafted from fir, it retains the authentic charm of traditional furniture, making it ideal for rustic or country-style interiors, or for creating a pleasing contrast in contemporary settings.
