Description

A striking urban landscape study in pastel on cardboard by the Italian painter and decorator Edoardo Gioja, dated September 19, 1914. The work depicts an intimate and luminous view of the Paper Buildings, historic brick buildings in the heart of the Inner Temple legal district in London, framed by tall trees, wrought-iron gates, and a distinctive polygonal bow window.Signed and dated at the bottom center: "Edoardo Gioja / Paper Blds Temple - Sep. 19 - 1914".A student in Rome under his father, Belisario Gioja, Edoardo Gioja was a landscape painter, portraitist, and refined decorator in the Liberty style. Active within the circle of In Arte Libertas and creator of important decorative cycles in Rome and abroad, he settled permanently in London in 1919, where he worked successfully as a portrait painter until
