Portrait of a deputy of the Tiers-Etat in 1789.
Karl Anton Hickel (1745-1798) is an Austrian painter who settled in France in 1786 after being the official painter of Joseph II.
He portrayed Queen Marie Antoinette and the Princess de Lamballe (1788).
He also made numerous portraits of the nobility of the southwest where he resided before emigrating to England at the time of the Revolution where he was a popular portraitist.
