Description

The heads of Bossons were created in 1948 by the company Bossons (WH Bossons and his son Ray) which closed its doors on December 6, 1996. Most of the original ideas and concepts come from Ray Bossons. The latter sketched, after long research in the library, portraits of figurines and masks with a perfectly convincing realism. The models were then made of clay and painted. Wall masks like ours were produced between 1948 and 1996 in England.
