Description

These three friends who were Roger Capron, Jean Derval and Robert Picault decide, after their Parisian studies to create a workshop in Vallauris. They open in 1947 and work together for eighteen months then separate. The workshop lasted a short time and their production is sought after, interesting and close to that of Jouve at its beginnings. This pitcher has a wonderful green color, it is massive and its slightly baroque handle. In perfect condition.
