Description

Frederic Marius de Buzon was born in Bayon in the Gironde in 1879. Gifted for painting, he was first student of Quinsac in Bordeaux before going to study at the Beaux-Arts in Paris under the aegis of Cormon and Maignan.
Winner of the recent Prix Abd-El Tif in 1913, he left for Algeria for the stay he was entitled to, but the country he liked as he settled there. He returned regularly to Paris where he was Associate of French Artists where he obtained the Gold Medal in 1922.
He often spent holidays in his family's home region of Getaria in the Spanish Basque Country, crunching landscapes where he sometimes inserted Algerian characters, like our painting where this Arab and his horse are on the map. Getaria beach with El Raton in the background !
