Yad Etsba Prayer Reading Liturgical Silver XVIII

375 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Voir descriptif

Material : Sterling silver

Length : 18 cm

Description

Yad / Etsba engraved silver, liturgical reading pointer, or reading hand, used to avoid unwanted contact with the parchment. Eighteenth time. A little bigger than a pen, 18 cm long, it weighs 50 grams with its chain. Last photo: a very small punch, I was able to photograph it in close-up. I do not know where it comes from, it seems to represent a profile of man with aquiline nose and pronounced chin. This stamp resembles the countermark punch Paris 1774/80 page 136 Tardy. Information given without certainty, the punch is really tiny. > 2 small deformations of the metal (the largest catch in close-up, the other underlined by a red arrow). Colissimo recommended port offered for France
