trades, oriental inspirations ...), all species of animals and in particular birds (dogs, cats, horses, insects, reptiles, rodents,), scenes with Indians or Arabs, erotic motifs as well as charming little comical scenes. The artists are inspired by different styles, Renaissance, Baroque, Art Nouveau ... Each of these works is a unique piece, the carving is done by hand and the details differ between two pieces. The finishes (paint, patina ..) are handmade and are very neat. These bronzes have the distinction of being painted cold, according to processes whose secret is lost. It is especially in France that the tradition of bronze figurines is widespread, it will be imported to Vienna by Mathias Bergmann, in 1850, the most famous workshop. it was on this date that he began to melt and paint figurines. This is the beginning of the Vienna bronzes that would become world famous. (Sources: Marc Menzoian, Anticomania).
