Description

Beautiful pair of landscapes of Robert Mogisse representing for one an undergrowth, for the other a rural landscape. These two oils on canvas are sold with their wooden frame carved, painted and rechapé gold. Robert Mogisse was born in 1933 in Saint Just Sauvage in the Marne and made his first drawing at the age of seven. He sells his first paintings during his military service and his passion for painting will not leave him. He moved first to Montmartre and then to the south of France and Sologne. He approaches very varied themes according to his travels, landscapes, marines etc ... He paints with a knife and brush in a generous and colorful way, with attention to detail. He exhibited throughout the world, USA, Japan etc ... and thus qualifies as Nomadic Artist. Dimensions: canvas 46 cm X 55 cm frame 60 cm
