Description

Carpet Karabagh, Caucasian, from Azerbadjian woolen wool on a length of 334 cm by 136 cm wide, sold as is.
You can however restore it, but this model remains by its antiquity and its originality, a model to keep in the state.
Indeed, the Karabagh are rarely so geometric and in possession of so many tribal scenery. These rugs are often very elaborate with patterns often embellished with curves and bright colors, see the last photo of another Karabagh who is also on Proantic.
This model does not have at least a Karabagh to bring the scenery of a carpet Shirvan, geographically close.
Five polygons, one red in the center, two white and two green, grab the field. This one is completed on both sides with half-polygons. In the center of each motif, four triangles surrounded by stylized trees of red, blue or orange color, along with fine dark blue stripes (representation of irrigation).

The border is a seedling of large geometric flowers and very stylized colors, red, blue, green and orange, set against a white background.
Our carpet therefore probably represents a large garden or a park with flowerbeds and massive grounds found in the tradition of Persian rugs called Garden Rugs, but in a more geometric, schematic and ethnic.
This carpet has been cleaned professionally and ecologically.
