Description

Very pretty small commode jumping between two opening with two drawers, Louis XV - Louis XVI transition, executed in the spirit of Charles-Claude Saunier and Jean-Henri Riesener, promoters of the neoclassical style in France.

Nice work in veneer of rosewood and rosewood embellished with marquetry nets. Beautiful ornamentation of bronzes decorated with pilasters supporting garlands on the stanzas with cut sides. The upper part is crowned with a beautiful frieze of posts in gilded brass, characteristic of the transition style by its neoclassical spirit. Feet slightly arched garnished with beautiful falls and bronze hooves. Original marble An old restoration of the back funds
