Description

Superb and large dish in the company of the Indies, octagonal in shape and from the 18th century. This large dish of the pink family is decorated in the center with a superb bouquet of flowers, embellished on the sides with small flowers. The borders are also decorated with flowers and foliage and the entire periphery of the dish circled with a ribbon border all on a white background. Small indentations at each corner of the dish give a touch of finesse and elegance to the whole. Very decorative dish and in excellent condition.
