Description

Marcel Legrand (1890-1933) is a painter who represented landscapes mainly from Gironde, notably from the Arcachon Basin. Student at the Julian Academy in Paris, he attended Foujita and Modigliani returned to the lands of his childhood. Attached "to the people of the sea", he represented parkers and fishermen working on the Arcachon Bay, in a very stylized script close to Ramiro Arrue. Offered for sale an oil on cardboard, mountain landscape probably the Pyrenees around 1930. Good condition.
