Description

Superb and very large oil painting on canvas from the early 19th century. It represents a view of Antibes bay with terraced gardens in the foreground with walkers and gatherers. On the left of the people on a carriage. In the background of the mouillage ships, the square fort on the left and the town of Antibes on the right. Superb animated view of this group of Antibes bay, with architectural elements and decks treated with finesse and details. This painting is mounted on a wooden panel and presented in a posterior frame. Decorative painting in the style of the VERNET marine, in very good condition.
