This particular vintage lamp, made around the middle of the 20th century, has a metal structure with a circular base, two curly arms on which the two lights rest externally.At the centre is inserted a curved glass upper and ground to create the image of a large sailing ship with sails unfolded. The lamp is electrified and ready to be exposed above a console table, a bedside table, a coffee table or a dresser.It can be a perfect decor for a beach house, for sailing lovers as well as for those who love vintage objects sought after.
