Description

Oil on cardboard, depicting a seascape at dusk, which creates a very unique lighting effect. Three warships can be seen not far from a rocky mountain; this is most likely, given other paintings by this artist, of the Strait of Gibraltar. In the sky, storm clouds and ochre lines cross them in all directions. The wind seems to be stirring up the dust surrounding the mountain. Signed lower left: Jean Louis Paguenaud. BIOGRAPHY: Jean Louis Paguenaud (1876-1952) was a student of Bouguereau at the École des Beaux-Arts in Bordeaux. He exhibited in Paris at the Salon des Artistes Français, beginning in 1905. He exhibited at the Parisian gallery on rue de la Boétie. He was the subject of a major retrospective in 1981 at the Musée de Toulon. He was an official painter of the Navy.
