Description

PLEASE SEND ME YOUR OFFER....I sometimes rave about strange, shamanic objects, from other universes and then I no longer contemplate those that fill my daily life .. so I fix this gap by presenting you with a banal but exceptional crucifix. This Christ is special because he has his head tilted, he has no crown of e & pine, his perzolium is tied on the side, the arms are up and the feet are parallel: it therefore has all the characteristics of the representations nuns of the XVII and XVIIIth century, however, the enameled cast iron knew its rise in the XIXth, it should have the superimposed feet, the legs more bent, the arms more in right angle, a crown of thorn, a bloody side ... but no, the cross as well as the base are in black enameled cast iron ...

strange ... fortunately that I observe ...
