Description

A stunning painted wood armchair from the Regency period, 18th century, designed for a salon. This wide and comfortable model features a high backrest and elegantly curved armrests, characteristic of the Regency style, adding a touch of refinement and sophistication to the piece. The top of the backrest and the seat rail are intricately carved with floral motifs, showcasing the exquisite craftsmanship of the era.The seat is upholstered in a beautiful horsetail fabric woven with bronze threads that imitate oxidized gold, providing a luxurious and sophisticated note. The back of the armchair is covered with traditional checkered fabric, modernized by the Eaton Check design from Canova, creating an elegant and harmonious contrast between tradition and modernity. o Period: 18th century, Regency
